Only a short distance from the port of Korisia on the island of Kea – part of the Cyclades archipelago in the Aegean Sea – this contemporary style seafront villa exudes elegance and comfort in a stunning natural setting of sea, rocks and sunsets.

The house (230 sq. m.) features five bedrooms with ensuite bathrooms, a spacious living room with a dining room and an open style kitchen, a guest toilet, a staff room with a bathroom, and a large storage room.

The villa is beautifully furnished with carefully selected furniture combining traditional Greek style with modern lines. A large terrace with an impressive horizon pool and a pergola with an open-air kitchen and dining area are the perfect areas for outdoor living during the summer months. Small steps carved into the rocks lead to the shore where umbrellas and chaise longues are in place.

Spectacular sunsets and views of the neighboring island of Makronissos as well as the coast of Attica are key features of the property.

The small and quiet yet cosmopolitan island of Kea enjoys easy access to Athens and to its international airport. Korisia is the picturesque port town on the island, built on a natural harbor, and boasting a hilly landscape dotted with white-washed houses and terracotta tile rooftops.
