On the southeast coast of the island of Antiparos in the southern Aegean Sea, this house is part of a small complex located only a few steps from the sea. Close to Soros Beach, and within walking disantance of a restaurant, it's a perfect slice of Greek paradise.

With its traditional Mediterranean blue shutters and white exterior and interior, the three-story house features a living room, an open plan kitchen with a dining room that opens onto the covered terrace with an outside dining area, three bedrooms (each with their own bathroom), and a maid's room that includes a bathroom. The windows offer pleasant views of the sea and on days with good visibility you can see the islands of Ios, Sikinos, and Iraklia.

The bright and airy interior has tiled floors, built-in wardrobes, ceiling fans, and a terrace on the second floor with an outside staircase to the garden. The over 1,000 sq. m. property is complete with a large outside infinity swimming pool. Native flowering shrubs and trees line stone walkways, providing shade and privacy. The island of Antiparos has a castle, an ancient cave, charming small shops, cafes, and restaurants, and many beautiful beaches.

Explore this enchanting isle with its rich history and culture, or stay at home and enjoy an al fresco dinner on the terrace.

Interior: 166 sq. m., garden: 1,010 sq. m.
