This absolutely charming 18th century country manor in the northern part of Amsterdam is surrounded by a large and lovely garden with a pond a private dock on the Amstel River. This one-of-a-kind fairytale property is ideal for those with a fondness for old chateaux.

The main manor house with seven bedrooms and six bathrooms has been renovated and is impeccably maintained. The main entrance opens onto a vestibule that leads to a central hall, to the left of which is a spacious living room with a fireplace and to the right of which is a library. The kitchen and family room are on the lower level. An elevator connects all four levels, the top two of which contain the bedrooms, a hammam, and a sauna.

Floors in the main foyer and hall are beautifully tiled, the rest of the rooms have either parquet or hardwood plank floors. The central staircase has a decorative cast iron balustrade. Doors are double-wing, paneled, or new wooden, windows are multi-paned and keep the interior nice and bright. The rooms on the highest level have rustic, white-painted exposed ceiling beams. Bathrooms are equipped with high-end sanitary ware.

Part of the property is a large garage, a walled terrace, a former carriage house, and a new outbuilding.

Land: 22,200 sq. m.
